

THE EAST TENNESSEE UNION FLAG.

I Wonder Why It Is?—By One Who Keeps His Eyes and Ears Open.—I wonder what has produced such a change in our town? But a few weeks ago, fighting, swearing and drinking was the order of the day, and night too, for that matter. Now a more quiet and peaceable town cannot be found in Tennessee.—I wonder what is the cause?

I wonder why it is that the young men of our town can talk of nothing but religion, they did not do it one month ago. I wonder why the Church is filled to its utmost capacity night after night when heretofore the minister had to preach to the bare walls?

I wonder what has become of those persons who used to sing those obscene songs and make such hideous outcries on the streets at night—I wonder if they are at Church? Any way, somebody is there, but they are shouting praises to the most High God—I wonder what has produced the change? Surely, these are wonderful times! I wonder what induces the Minister to preach night after night, until his lungs are nearly worn out and his physical energies are exhausted? I wonder how the young men can find time to attend prayer meeting in the afternoon, and leave their business when they know that time is money?

I wonder why people can shout and sing and pray, when they feel happy, and what makes them so happy? I wonder if it is all excitement—who can tell?

It is a matter of surprise that no wealthy citizen of Washington county, a county proverbial for the intelligence and liberality of its people, has excited the "generous rivalry" of its educated and talented youth, by offering a prize medal to excellence of literary composition. The results of such a munificence would be incalculable.

Talent would be aroused from its dormant slumbers, and the richest treasures of thought adorn these essays of literary ambition, which otherwise would have been hidden forever in the recesses of the mind, like gems in the depth of the ocean.

Reward is the animus of exertion, and no rewards are so elevating in their character, and gratifying to moral aspirations, as honor and distinction. The prize itself will be a token of homage to the grandeur and dignity of educated intellect, and the promotion of offering which must result from the contest which its possession will engender, will be a monument to the public enterprise and liberality of the donor.

Will not some munificent citizen of our country, calculate the remuneration of such an investment, by the rules of social refinement and elevation.

OPPOSITION TO THE PRESIDENT'S PARDON.—Esquire Hawkins, as will be seen by the following notice, has taken the business out of the President's hands, and has granted a special Pardon to one William McLafferty.—Whether the Esq. has done this with malice aforethought or whether his object was to relieve the President, remains to be tried at the bar of public opinion.

Married, on the 20th inst., by Wm. Hawkins, Esq., Mr. William McLafferty, to Miss Nancy Pardon.

AN ITEM.—Gen. Robert E. Lee is reported to have applied to the War Department, a few weeks since, for permission to keep the few pieces of artillery now at Lexington, but belonging to the United States, for the purpose of instructing young men in the military school in artillery practice. The response of the Department may be inferred from an officer being detailed from Richmond a few days since to take possession of the ordnance.

HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE.

Critical Notices of the Press.

It is the foremost Magazine of the day.—The friends never had a more delightful companion, nor the million a more enterprising friend, than Harper's Magazine.—Methodist Protestant, (Baltimore).

The most popular Monthly in the world.—New York Observer.

We must refer in tones of eulogy to the high tone and varied excellencies of Harper's Magazine, a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,000 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the American People, and the popularity it has acquired is merited. Each number contains fully 114 pages of reading matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood-cuts; and it combines in itself the ready monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pure literature.—TAUNTON'S Guide to American Literature, London.

The volume bound constitutes in itself a library of miscellaneous reading such as cannot be found in the same compass in any other publication, and that has come under our notice.—Boston Courier.
